SCOTTISH EXECUTIVE

What is Know The Score?

Know the Score is the corporate brand for media campaigns, a website, a 24-hour information line and drug information materials, which links together all national and local organisations involved in tackling drugs misuse in Scotland.

Know the Score spans a broad range of partnership activities; its fundamental aim is to sign-post the public towards quality information and advice about drugs misuse across Scotland.

Know the Score is used by the Scottish Executive, national agencies and local bodies for information campaigns and materials. This draws on best practice to ensure access to consistent and reliable information.

About this Directory

This Directory is divided into three separate sections; National Organisations, Drug Action Teams and Local and Community Services.

National organisations are made up of a range of key partners who are involved in tackling drugs in Scotland. Many of them produce materials about the work they are involved in at a national and local level.

Drug Action Teams are the focal point for local action on drug misuse. They comprise of representatives from key agencies involved in tackling drug misuse locally, including local authorities, police, health services, prisons and voluntary sector organisations. As a central point of contact, they can provide details about a number of local initiatives and services.

Many local and community services exist across Scotland and offer specialist help, support and advice to meet a range of needs relating to drugs misuse. A number of them provide specific information and guidance on drugs issues.

The Directory has been produced by the Scottish Drugs Forum (SDF) in association with Know the Score. SDF holds copyright to the Directory.

National Organisations

The Scottish Executive is responsible for drugs policy, and for providing funding to support a wide range of services in Scotland. The Executive's Drug Strategy is built on four key themes: tackling the availability of drugs in Scottish communities; treating and rehabilitating those who have developed drug problems; engaging with communities and protecting them from drug-related crime; and, evaluating and informing young people about the risks from drugs. The Strategy is delivered in partnership with Scotland's 22 Drug Action Teams, and with statutory and voluntary organisations.

Telephone Substance Misuse Division
0131 244 2208

The National Drug Misuse in Scotland website is managed by the Drug Misuse Information Strategy Team of ISD Scotland on behalf of the Scottish Executive. The aim of this site is to inform those involved in tackling Scotland's problem drug use and act as a national focal point for professionals and other interested parties by allowing instant dissemination of information and good practice.

Telephone 0131 551 8532

NHS Health Scotland came into operation on 1 April 2003 following a merger between HEBS and the Public Health Institute of Scotland. The organisation gives leadership to the health education effort in Scotland and is responsible for the delivery of national programmes that seek to improve Scotland's health.

Telephone 0131 536 5500

Scotland's NHS Boards and Primary Care Trusts support a wide range of services to treat those affected by drug misuse. These services are often delivered in partnership with other organisations, such as local authorities (eg rehabilitation), specialist addiction services (eg counselling and detoxification) frequently provided by voluntary sector bodies, and through contractual arrangements with General Practitioners and pharmacists (eg substitute prescribing).

Telephone NHS Helpline 0800 224488

The aim of the Scotland Against Drugs Campaign is to help prevent drug misuse and its consequences impacting on local communities in Scotland through programmes of information and community action achieved with the support of Scotland's business community.

Telephone 0141 331 6150

Crimestoppers enables people to call a single nationwide freephone number, 0800 555 111, at any time with information about any crime, including drugs-related crime. Calls are free, confidential and cannot be traced. Crimestoppers supports the Scottish Police Service and the Scottish Drug Enforcement Agency in reducing the availability of drugs in Scotland.

Telephone 0800 555111

Scottish Drugs Forum is the national non-government drugs policy and information agency working in partnership with others to co-ordinate effective responses to drug use in Scotland. It is the umbrella agency for all those concerned with tackling drug use in Scotland. SDF aims to support and represent at both local and national levels a wide range of interests, promoting collaborative, evidence-based responses to drug use.

Telephone 0141 221 1175

The Scottish Drug Enforcement Agency drives and co-ordinates a multi-agency response to combat the threat from drug trafficking, and other serious and organised crime in Scotland.

Telephone 0141 302 1100

The Society for the Prevention of Solvent and Volatile Substance Abuse, offers advice and resources to help deal with VSA problems.
